This certificate of conformity is based on an evaluation of samples and original RoHS test report of the above products.

Materials of the submitted products have been tested by the provider and the original test reports have been coordinated by us and found to be in compliance with the listed European Directives.

Test results apply only to the particular sample tested and to the specific tests carried out. Technical Report and documentation are at the Holder's disposal.

This certificate applies specifically to the sample investigated in our test reference number only. The interrelated markings as shown below can be affixed on the product after preparation of necessary technical documentation. Other relevant Directives have to be observed.
